Report charts farming future

A report which outlines a blueprint for the future of agriculture in Haliburton County has been presented to the local farmer's association. The report, prepared by member Ernest Hills, is the first part of a program which he hopes will see the return of agriculture to a prominent position in the county.

According to Hills, one of the first tasks for area farmers is to increase the awareness of the importance of agriculture in the county. He notes that this must be approached on a number of levels, spreading the word with the public, and getting the members of municipal councils to recognize the valuable role agriculture can and does play in the county's economy.

The author of the report suggests that municipal councils must encourage agriculture through identifying policies in official plans which protect land currently under cultivation, and potential farm land, from development which would see it lost to the agricultural sector. "I call upon county and municipal administrations to endorse a resolution establishing the preservation and development of agricultural land as a priority in planning directives," Hills' report states.

In relation to this policy, Hills suggests that a formal agricultural land registry be established to help identify useable land in the county. He notes this registry could be used as a clearing house where those involved in agriculture could contact property owners who are not using their land for farming, to ascertain if they would be willing to rent or lease their property for that purpose.

Hills also questions the current practise of reforesting former agricultural land. He suggested the Haliburton County Farmers Association establish a committee ... "to oversee a program of advancing agricultural land use as an economical and environmentally sound alternative to reforestation."

Hills said that establishing a better rapport with the Ministry of Natural Resources and the Ministry of Environment would assist in creating guidelines for rehabilitation of unused farmland, versus reforestation of the same property.

The author of the report recognizes the value of reforestation to extend the hardwood resources of the county, but he indicates that serious attention should be given to the agricultural potential of land before time and money is spent on reforesting it.

To obtain some of these objectives, Hills says the Haliburton County Farmers Association is going to have to strike a higher profile, sometimes taking political or controversial stands on matters of interest to their members.

He recognizes that to achieve these goals, the county organization must present a unified voice on the subjects being considered. "As a role player in the economic development of the county, such a lobby is inclined to be more successful if unified in purpose..." Hills commented. He also suggests that members of the farming community make an effort to have their opinions heard by municipal councils and other bodies in the county.

Hills recognizes the importance of the 4-H youth movement in spreading the word about the value of agriculture in the area. He suggests that a youth committee could encourage the growth of the 4-H sector, as well as the introduction of agricultural studies into the school system.

The report suggests that promotion may be the key to increased farm profits. "A longstanding concern to me has been that area farmers, through the Farmers Association, have not seen the promotional and marketing potential in working with our local Chamber of Commerce, and thereby the local tourist industry, for a mutually satisfactory interaction of policy and development."

He also said that since the size of county farms will not likely reach that of operations in the southern portions of the province, farmers will have to establish their own market-

Help sought for road

A group of Minden Township ratepayers is seeking the assistance of the Anson, Hinton and Minden Council to improve the condition of the Cox Farm Road and Victor Drive.

The road provides access to the Cox Hills Estates subdivision from Highway 121, just east of Highway 35.

The subdivision was developed by Terrelac Properties on the shore of Minden Lake.

In August, 1981, the municipality signed a subdivision agreement with Elmar Hodsoll, president of Terrelac Properties. Under the terms of the agreement the developer agreed to construct the roads in the subdivision to standards specified by the MTC. The municipality agreed to assume the roads into the municipal roads system once 50% of the lots were sold and once applications for building permits for six lots had been taken out.

At the regular Council meeting on Thursday, September 27, a resident of the neighbourhood adjacent to the Cox Hills Estates informed Council that the entire subdivision, save for one lot, had been sold on September 13, 1984 to Sherwood Developments, a Toronto based company.

Bern Berry, acting on behalf of seven families who live at the end of Victor Drive asked Council if the sale of the lots, which he described as representing 95% of the subdivision, would satisfy one of the requirements agreed to by the municipality regarding assumption of the road. He noted that in his opinion the road had not been properly maintained since being constructed and remained in a "washboard" condition.

Reeve Lyle McKnight stated that in his opinion the clause regarding the sale of the lots did not specify the number of buyers. "Whether it is one person (buying) or six persons, the lots have been sold," he said.

McKnight added that if 5 more building permits are issued the requirements of the subdivision agreement will be met and the municipality will assume control over the road.

McKnight noted that the roads had met with MTC standards when they were inspected a year after being constructed.

Berry responded by stating that the roads had not been properly maintained since being constructed, noting that they had been graded only once since 1981.

He asked Council to contact Sherwood Developments and request that the roads be brought up to municipal standards.

Councillor Gary Kenney questioned the intent of the subdivision agreement suggesting that the clause implied individual sales and adding that individual owners would contribute tax dollars to help defray the costs of grading and plowing the roads.

Berry disagreed stating that he did not believe that

Martin, staff die in crash

Grenville Martin, owner of G.W. Martin Lumber Company, and Ross McNaught, general manager of the company, died in a plane crash near Brampton, Ontario on Wednesday.

The pilot of the company aircraft, Jack Austin, was also killed when the twin-engined craft struck a tree and crashed into an open field while making an approach to Lester Pearson International Airport. The plane was on a flight from Harcourt to Toronto when the accident occurred.

An investigation is underway into the cause of the accident which occurred in dense fog.

Grenville Martin, 48, took over his father's logging business in 1958 when it employed 20 workers. Under his direction, the firm expanded from a small family business to become the largest private company in Haliburton County. The company owns saw mills, veneer and wood pallet plants across the province and carries out logging operations in Ontario, Quebec and the United States. The firm employs 1600 people in Ontario alone.

Martin was a popular figure in the Harcourt and Bancroft area, well liked and admired as a hard worker who was involved in all aspects of the company's operations.

Company officials have indicated that the firm's operations will continue.

Funeral services were held in Bancroft on Sunday. Martin leaves his mother Nellie, brothers Barry and Noel, sister Karan and four children, Kimerly, Kathryn, Kelly and Kenton.

success in the future.

"In setting the stage for phase two (of the development of farming in the county) a key recommendation in this section of the study is directed to area farmers who must be prepared to be flexible, and introspective of their operations," the report states in conclusion. "They must be prepared to make assessments and financial decisions critical to the ongoing potential and viability of farming in a marginally productive area. They must put aside uniformed prejudices concerning new areas of agriculture, be it livestock, cropping or management techniques, in respect to the growth and financial potential developed through research."

ing and promotional projects, working with the Chamber of Commerce.

Hills encouraged the continued use of the Veterinary Services Program which provides government subsidy to assist in the provision of large animal services in the area.

The report concludes by suggesting if the agricultural sector of the county is to advance, greater participation from the farming community will be required, both within the organization and as a lobby group. Co-operation will be needed with other bodies in the county and province with an ongoing program of critical assessment of the programs and their potential for

Author describes life with handicapped child

JEREMIAH is the story of a boy born with cerebral palsy and the joy and sorrow shared by his family who decided to raise him at home.

The book, which was published in September, was written by Jeremiah's mother, Frances Armstrong, and details the first five years of his life. Frances and her husband John, own and operate eight cash crop farms near Ingersoll, Ontario. They have two other children, Sherri and Jonathon.

Frances is currently in the second month of an Ontario tour to promote her book and to share her experiences with the public.

On Thursday evening, Frances spoke to a group of 30 people at the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit office in Haliburton. She told the gathering that she wrote the book because she felt it was important to present a realistic view of the problems faced by the parents of handicapped children and "to get people looking at handicapped persons in a different light."

Jeremiah, she said, had been born with cerebral palsy, a neuro-muscular disease that is caused by the lack of oxygen to the brain. Since his premature birth, Jeremiah has suffered a number of seizures that have worsened his condition. "Each seizure is destructive because his whole system stops and he can't breathe," she said.

By the time Jeremiah was three years old he was profoundly retarded. Frances spoke of the difficulty she and her husband had in accepting Jeremiah's handicaps. She noted that like all young couples, she and John had not considered or planned on having a handicapped child.

When Jeremiah was born they blamed themselves, their doctors and God for their son's condition. "We went through a stage where we felt we had done something wrong. We saw Jeremiah as a punishment, not just fate," she said. She added that they also experienced feelings of hopelessness and shame.

But the Armstrongs overcame their initial sorrow and decided to raise Jeremiah on their own at home even though they were advised against it. In doing so Frances noted, "We have learned more about faith, hope and patience in seven years than we would have in a lifetime." Jeremiah required constant care and as much as four hours of therapy a day.

Frances spoke of the sense of joy and exhilaration she felt when her son was able to pick up a cup by himself as well as other steps in his development that are taken for granted in normal children.

The young parents became acutely aware that Jeremiah was an individual with a distinct character and personality "who has the same need to be loved, accepted and needed as other children."

Frances emphasised that she wanted the book to be a realistic account of Jeremiah's life, not one that painted an overly optimistic picture "where everything is coming up roses."

She explained that Jeremiah's condition has worsened since the book was written. He must be sedated all the time and finds it very difficult to integrate with other people. As well, he is very self-abusive. "I am not doing this for myself or my family so that he can be integrated," she said.

She does believe however, that other handicapped people should be integrated into society. "They should have the same rights as others and should be able to develop their talents and capabilities within their limits in the community," she said.

"In order for handicapped people to become accepted," she said, "There must be teamwork between the families, school boards, social workers, churches and people in the work place."

She added that it is especially important to teach tolerance to children noting that many of the prejudices and 'hangups' that children have, are learned from adults.

"There have been a lot of changes in people's attitudes in the past 20 years, but there is still a long way to go," she said.

When she was asked about the effect of Bill 82 on the education system, she noted that integration of people with special needs varies with the community because school boards interpret the Bill differently. In some areas, she said, the children are totally segregated even though the school boards say that they are integrated. "The changes in the system were coming anyway, but Bill 82 heated things up," she added.

She stated that she believed that some parents groups have been too demanding and that some teachers are having difficulty adapting to the change partly because of "their fear of the unknown", but she added that she could understand their point of view.

Frances will be carrying her message of tolerance and understanding across Canada during the next year. As she explained, "I want to show people that we must stop looking at people with handicaps as 'handicapped people'. We must look at the person underneath. What really counts is what is in your mind and heart."

Looking to the future

One of the underutilized resources of Haliburton County is its agricultural potential. There are few roads in the Highlands which don't run beside field which were once integral parts of the county's agricultural economy. Most now lie empty, slowly giving way to a tangle of brush, or at best, yielding a crop of hay each year.

There is no doubt that growing things, especially for profit, in the Highlands, is a difficult proposition. The first pioneers who were lured to the area with promises of agricultural bounty, soon learned the soil beneath the trees they cleared held little in the way of long term promise.

However, there are areas of the county which are fertile and where agricultural potential has gone untapped. New methods and a greater understanding of agrarian systems have extended the abilities and returns a modern farmer can expect from what was once considered marginal land. The success of the few full-time and the growing number of part-time farmers, attests to the potential that exists.

These comments are prompted by a report prepared by Ernest Hills of the Haliburton County Farmers Association. The report offers a blueprint for the development and extension of agricultural activities in the county. While the details of the report and its approach may change with time, simply the fact that it was produced and is being considered is a positive sign for the agricultural industry in the county. Before any change can be made for the better, effort must go into analyzing what direction is best. The report by Mr. Hills provides that foundation.

It will take years to bring change to the agricultural scene in the county. Even in the most progressive communities the nature of the art of farming dictates slow change. However, we hope this initial blueprint represents the first step in a process which will raise agriculture to the important level it should occupy in the Highlands.

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

The decision received only one inch of back page coverage in Toronto's Globe & Mail. But on June 20, 1984, the final day of the last sitting of the House of Commons in Ottawa, Bill C-53 was passed, establishing a new National Park Reserve along the Quebec north shore. A few days earlier, forty of forty-seven islands in the fifty mile long Mingan archipelago, lying to the north of Anticosti island in the Gulf of the St. Lawrence River, were purchased from Done Petroleum Corporation for $5,000,000.

New national parks or park reserves (one step removed from full park status) are not everyday events. And with a centennial year around the corner in 1985, Parks Canada might be expected to sing the praises of this latest addition to its far-flung empire a little more exuberantly.

Can it be there is little to sing about in the remote island chain? Not at all. Their nature values have been praised by visitors for more than half a century, giving the Mingans wide recognition as the best candidate for a national park in their region of Quebec. Furthermore, in their few square miles, one finds a surprising diversity of vegetation communities associated with both fresh and salt water, ranging from lichen and shrub dominated moorlands, braving harsh climatic conditions, to rainfed peatbogs and mature fir forests.

Birdlife abounds, at one time prompting a man from far-a-way Victoria, B.C. to acquire several of the islands for conservation. One cliff alone shelters more than 1,000 black-legged kittiwakes, while population of arctic and common terns and tufted cormorants are accompanied by puffins, red throated loons and common eiders.

The mingling of fresh and salt water in the Gulf also fills the aquatic environment surrounding the archipelago with rich marine life. A profusion of zooplankton in the Labrador current, along with upwellings and varied sea bottoms, encourage a wide range of marine mammals including blue, finback and minke whales as well as porpoises.

Though thinly settled, the Mingan's social history dates back to prehistoric times. Unresolved questions of native land rights are, in fact, the reason why the island chain is a park reserve, not a park. Once current negotiations between the federal government and the Mingan band of the Attikamak - Montagnais Indian Council (which

The provision of the new apartment building in Minden for senior citizens implies a caring for their welfare by the community, and we applaud those who were responsible for the project.

It is a pity, therefore, that a policy of 'No Pets' (except for birds or fish) appears to make consideration for the tenants secondary to consideration for the building itself. A number of studies over the past several years have clearly shown that pets contribute to the well-being and longevity of elderly people, particularly

On September 24th, recognizing the need to help counter the expected high unemployment over the coming winter and spring, the Hon. Flora MacDonald, Minister of Employment and Immigration, authorized the addition of $430 million to the Canada Works Program. $250 million, less administrative costs, and $29 million set aside for native people and contingencies are being provided for funding on a constituency basis and $180 million, less administration costs, are being provided for projects funded under the authority of Section 38 of the Unemployment Insurance Act.

Earlier this month, the Minister wrote to each member advising of the particular share of the constituency based funding allocated each riding. I was pleased to see that Victoria - Haliburton has received a slightly larger amount than in other years, $381,000.

The Minister also asked each member to return to the practice of setting up a Constituency Advisory Board to advise on the applications. I would suggest that if your group

Katimavik group sponsors acid rain conference

More than 250 Katimavik participants from across Canada, representing the largest gathering of Katimavik youth ever, will meet in Minden on November 3 and 4 to participate in "Here Comes the Rain," a conference on acid rain.

The two-day event, organized entirely by the seven-member Katimavik group in Minden and Group Leader Chris Niles, will feature eight keynote speakers, displays, debates and films. Topics to be covered at the conference range from the economic impact of acid rain to the liming of Muskoka lakes. Guest speakers include: Mr. Ron Taborek (Ontario Hydro); Mr. John Casselman (Ministry of Natural Resources); Mrs. Sheila Hatch, Mayor of Muskoka; and Mrs. Sonya Holliday-Rhodes.

Mr. William (Bill) Scott, MP for Victoria - Haliburton, has been invited to officiate at the opening ceremonies, and Mr. Frank Miller, MPP for Muskoka, has been invited to attend the closing ceremonies on Sunday afternoon.

According to Chris Niles, conference co-ordinator, the surprisingly large number of participants reflects the concern and interest among young people from across Canada in this major environmental issue of acid rain.

"When we planned this conference, we were looking for a way to make a meaningful contribution to solving the acid rain problem," said Chris. "Making more people aware of the problem, and making sure they understand the problem, is the best way to help solve it."

Turnout for the event was originally estimated at 70 or 80 people, representing about 10 or 11 Katimavik groups. But an open invitation to the 138 Katimavik groups active in Ontario brought a deluge of "yes" responses, and prompted a major change in planning.

"We've had to gear up everything, and even move the conference site," explained Chris. Requests for assistance and donations from the town have been most favourably received, he added. "The Municipality of Minden, the Haliburton County School Board, and the Minden Curling Club are just a few of the local groups who are making this possible," he said.

With less than two weeks to go, Chris and his group are still in need of assistance, however. "If there is one thing we would really appreciate, it is donations of snacks and refreshments." As well, local families who would be willing to billet guest speakers for one evening are needed, and should contact Chris at 286-3777.

Katimavik groups participating in the acid rain conference will be coming from as far away as Hearst, Niagara-on-the-Lake and Hamilton.

Dismal record

-by John Eakins, MPP -

The provincial government's "dismal record" of hiring and promoting women to senior jobs in the civil service is a poor example to the private sector, according to my Leader David Peterson.

Mr. Peterson was commenting on a speech by the Minister responsible for Women's Issues. In his speech, the Minister warned that if companies did not adopt voluntary programs to hire and promote more women, "the legislative curb is always there." The Minister should not be making "veiled threats" to the private sector while women continue to lag behind in provincial hiring, promotion and earnings, Mr. Peterson said.

Mr. Peterson pointed out that only one of the province's 26 Deputy Ministers -- the highest position in the civil service -- is a woman. Of 51 Assistant Deputy Ministers, only two are women. Women are also seriously under-represented in the senior executive ranks of the civil service. There, only 44 women share these posts with 598 men.

According to figures, women are also trapped in lower-paying jobs. While 75% of men in the public service earn more than $21,000, 75% of the women earn less than that amount.

Eastern Ontario Development Corporation (EODC)

In a statement released this week, MPP Hugh O'Neil (Quinte) called on the government to "expand and improve measures to stimulate economic development in Eastern Ontario."

A research document issued with the statement revealed that EODC contributions to the region had steadily declined over the past ten years. In 1974 - 75, total gross regional expenditures amounted to $22,175,277. In 1983 - 84, that figure stood at under $6.5 million. The EODC, together with the Northern Ontario Development Corporation and the Ontario Development Corporation, is a provincial government corporation devoted to regional economic development.

Noting that Eastern Ontario has seen its share of ODC expenditures drop from a high of 36.1% of ODC commitments in 1975 - 76 to 8.7% in 1983 - 84, Mr.

Looking at tomorrow

"Stop and go" economic growth is how management consultants Woods Gordon see the performance of the Canadian economy over the next decade. Tomorrow's Customers in Canada, the company's 18th annual report, also predicts:

- The 35 to 49 age group will increase four times faster than the national average as the baby boom generation grows older.

- The "maturity market" (50 years and up) will become more lucrative for such products as travel, cosmetics, fashion and health-related durables.

- The best market prospects will continue to be the 20 per cent of Canadian households having incomes of $51,000-plus (in 1984).

- Mass consumer markets will erode and buying patterns will become more fragmented.

- Parents will generally be older and wealthier, with fewer children and more money to spend on each child.

- Marketers will use direct mail campaigns and trade shows to a greater extent because of their cost efficiencies.

- Most advertising dollars will continue to be spent on print, but there will be increased use of electronic or fibre-optic billboards.

- More working women will mean changes in traditional buying habits, dictating changes in marketing/selling approaches.

O'Neil asked the Minister of Industry and Trade for action to stem the flow of investment from Eastern Ontario. Established large companies are leaving the region, taking jobs with them to other parts of the province.

Saying that the number of applications for EODC assistance had dropped in recent years, Mr. O'Neil pointed out that this trend showed the need to change the Corporation's mandate in order to attract invest-

Extra-billing may end

Federal penalties of more than $4 million a month may cause the province to reconsider a ban on extra-billing by doctors. The Canada Health Act, a federal statute passed last summer, allows Ottawa to withhold transfers to provinces which permit extra-billing of patients.

Any ban would take a few years to implement, according to the Minister of Health, who said "a phasing out of extra-billing would allow for a non-disruptive period to occur." A ban on the practice by 1987 would mean that Ontario would receive withheld federal funds.

Opposition parties at Queen's Park have called on the provincial government to take action to prohibit extra-billing. Under this practice, doctors charge patients amounts greater than those allowed under OHIP.

The extra charges represent what some have called a "tax on the sick", and threaten to create two levels of medical care — one for the rich and one for the poor.

agreed in principle to the park) are resolved, the path will be clear for the reserve to attain full park status.

In a time of shrinking wilderness and troubled relations between Ottawa and Quebec this event deserves real commendation. No doubt the reason it didn't develop a higher profile is that the Mingans fall within the electoral riding won by Prime Minister Mulroney. The former government may have thought that a big send-off for the park reserve during an election debate would backfire politically. Hindsight says it wouldn't have made much difference.

Haliburton team wins race

The team of young cross country runners from Haliburton were declared 1984 champions at the annual meet held on Wednesday, October 17 at Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden.

Approximately 90 runners competed over the mile and one-quarter distance.

Cross country running is a team and an individual event in which each team is allowed to enter eight runners per age group, the first five finishers count toward the teams overall point standing.

The runners receive a ticket at the finish of the race indicating their placement. At the completion of each race the five lowest finishers for each team have their standings tabulated. The school with the lowest overall total for the four age groups is declared the winner.

The individual winners of medallions were:

Junior Girls: 1. Lisa Carr, Minden, 10 min., 21 sec. 2. Kristen Creelman, Haliburton, 10 min., 26 sec. 3. Kristi King, Cardiff, 10 min., 38 sec.

Junior Boys: 1. Kent Taylor, Minden, 9 min., 25 sec. 2. Darren Warburton, Haliburton, 9 min., 36 sec. 3. Jason Sloughton, Haliburton, 9 min., 38 sec.

Senior Girls: 1. Cathy Beaver, Minden, 10 min., 1 sec. 2. Kim Pockett, Haliburton, 10 min., 26 sec. 3. Arlene Fults, Cardiff, 11 min., 25 sec.

Senior Boys: 1. Scott Russell, Haliburton, 9 min., 21 sec. 2. Troy Main, Haliburton, 9 min., 24 sec. 3. Alfie Miscio, Haliburton, 9 min., 25 sec.

The total points for team

Pain and exhaustion is etched on the faces of the young runners as they make the final turn during the Haliburton County cross country race.

standings were:

Haliburton: Junior Girls - 49; Junior Boys - 23; Senior Girls - 38; Senior Boys - 27. Total points - 137.

Cardiff: Junior Girls - 39;

Junior Boys - 103; Senior Girls - 50; Senior Boys - 67. Total points - 259.

Minden: Junior Girls - 38; Junior Boys - 33; Senior Girls - 35; Senior Boys - 37.

Total points - 143.

The lowest total was earned by Haliburton and therefore they were declared the overall cross country team champions for 1984.

Scott pays tribute to Davis

Over the years of my elected service to the constituency of Victoria - Haliburton, I have enjoyed tremendous co-operation from both the provincial and municipal levels of government. When he was elected Premier in 1971, Bill Davis continued the long established spirit of excellent communication with my office as I am sure he did with all elected officials in the province.

Much has been written in the last several weeks about the Premier's decision to retire. He is, no doubt, the most trusted and liked politician in Ontario. What has always impressed me about Mr. Davis is his ability to know just what the people of this province need and want at all times. He often contradicted the traditional views of his Party and his Caucus when he felt that the sentiment of the people lay in another direction. He had no hesitation in bringing about change in the province, as long as it was done with the proper consultation and warning.

We will all miss Mr. Davis at the helm of the ship of state of the Province of Ontario. His guiding steered a course which has led Ontario to the prominence it enjoys today. I am sure you join me in thanking Mr. Davis and wishing him well in whatever endeavour he chooses to participate in next.

Cottage break-ins near Wolf Lake

Cottages were once again the targets for thieves during the past week, as police report that four premises on Wolf Lake in Glamorgan Township were entered illegally.

Taken in the break-in were chainsaws, fishing tackle and a variety of household goods valued at $3400.

Police also report that cottage break-ins have been reported from four other locations in the county. In an effort to deter such activity, police patrols in the cottage areas will be increased until freeze-up takes place. The patrols will continue during the winter months with officers using snowmobiles to reach the more remote areas of the county.

Car taken

A Haliburton man has been charged with break, enter and theft following an incident October 20 in Haliburton Village.

According to police, an intruder broke into the Curry Motors garage early Saturday morning and drove off with a 1985 model Corvette. Witnesses in the community reported that the vehicle was seen being driven around village streets at a high rate of speed. The vehicle is valued at $35,000. The police located the car some time later parked at the rear of the Curry Motors building.

Charged with the offence is Peter John Austin, 21, of R.R.2, Haliburton. He is being held in custody in Lindsay.

Missing car

An intruder followed a similar pattern to steal a car from Elstone Motors, also in Haliburton Village. In this instance however the car has yet to be recovered. The break-in took place in the early morning hours of Sunday.

Taken in the break-in was a 1980 Plymouth Horizon. The vehicle is believed to have licence plates DLF 811.

Driver charged

Charges of failing to remain at the scene of an accident and driving while his licence is under suspension, have been laid against an Eagle Lake man following an accident Friday afternoon on the Bobcaygeon Road north of Minden.

Charged is Bernard Hebert, 23.

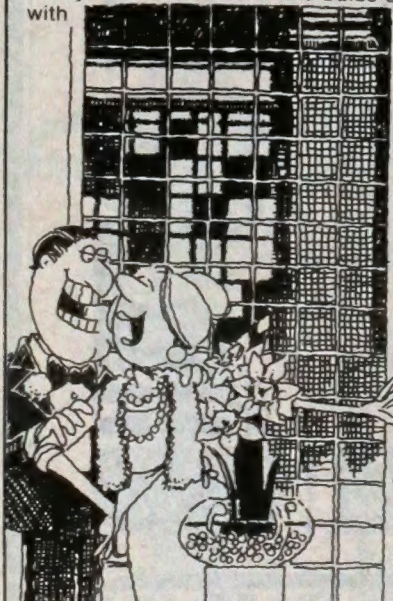

Constable Brian Dunham is the investigating officer.

PLANT SOME PAPER WHITES

Paper white narcissus can be grown indoors between Oct. 1 and Feb. 1, and those planted by Oct. 1 will be in full bloom by Nov. 15. For a contemporary look that is all the rage in New York City boutiques, fill 2/3 of an attractive bowl or terra cotta saucer with marble chips and place the bulbs on the chips. Next, add just enough water to barely reach the base of the bulbs and then fill the bowl with marble chips by placing them gently around the bulbs.

Keep the bowl in a cool dark place for two weeks and at the first signs of growth, place in full daylight. Try to avoid areas with temperatures higher than 65-70 degrees Fahrenheit. Add just enough water each week to barely reach the base of the bulbs.

Juniors advance to Kawartha West finals

The H.H.S.S. Junior Redmen have advanced to the Kawartha West Division finals after defeating I.E. Weldon 7-1 on Thursday in Haliburton. The Senior football team was not as successful however, losing 11-6 to the Brock Bulldogs in the second home game on Thursday.

The Junior game was an evenly matched contest from the outset.

Neither team was able to maintain an offensive drive until Redmen quarterback Tom MacLeod kicked a 20 yard single for the only scoring play of the first quarter.

Weldon tied the score on an identical play to end the first half. During the second quarter the Redmen moved inside Weldon's 20 yard line during three separate possessions but were unable to score.

The teams remained deadlocked at 1-1 through the third quarter.

The Redmen finally got their break in the fourth quarter after they kicked into the Weldon end zone from thirty yards out. When a Weldon player began to run the ball out of the end zone, he was tackled by Redmen Jaro Cooper and Craig Crowe. The ball was knocked loose and smothered by Craig putting the Redmen up by six points.

With less than three minutes remaining in the game, Weldon began an offensive drive from their 13 yard line and moved steadily downfield to the Redmen 20 yard line.

The minute flag was up when a Weldon receiver caught a pass and was only two yards short of a touchdown before he was tackled by Craig Crowe and pushed out of bounds.

That ended the Weldon offensive threat and left the score 7-1 for the Redmen.

For his strong play throughout the contest, Craig Crowe was selected by coach Gary Brohman as the defensive star of the game.

Andrew Burk was singled out by the coach as the top offensive player. Andrew carried the ball 20 times for an impressive total of 220 yards.

The Junior Redmen will be hosting the Fenelon Falls Falcons in the Kawartha West final on Friday, October 26. Game time is 2 p.m. and takes place on the playing field at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

Senior loss

The Senior Redmen may have lost their contest but, as coach Gary Brohman stated, "They had nothing to be ashamed of. They played their hearts out, but lost the game."

He pointed out that the Redmen defeated the Brock Bulldogs earlier in the season. It was a case of two evenly matched teams winning a game apiece but Brock won the more important game.

As in the first contest between the two teams, Thursday's was a defensive struggle.

After each team tried unsuccessfully to launch a scoring drive, the Redmen gained possession when Terry Hobden, Peter Allore and Mike Blake teamed up to block a Bulldog punt on the Brock 40 yard line.

The Redmen then moved methodically downfield. Mike McNaul carried the ball four times then ran in from seven yards out to score the first touchdown of the game.

Both teams had good scoring opportunities in the second quarter but the defensive lines prevailed. The Bulldogs were only able to manage a single point before half time.

It was in the third quarter that the Bulldogs made one big play to take the lead in the game.

A Brock receiver caught a 20 yard pass and ran 40 yards to score. This put the Bulldogs ahead 8-6.

Again, strong defense by both clubs broke up any offensive threats through the third and fourth quarter until, with only a minute left in the game, the Bulldogs kicked a field goal to put them ahead 11-6.

Coach Gary Brohman cited tackle Terry Hobden for his work on defense and offense. He also singled out Mike McNaul who carried the ball 11 times for a total gain of 160 yards.

The Senior Redmen will be meeting I.E. Weldon in Lindsay on Thursday October 25 to decide the winner of the Kawartha West Consolation Cup.

Did you know ... that our office has information on energy conservation for your home?

The Ministry of Housing offers a pamphlet providing a systematic plan for seven days of simple energy-saving projects. Each project can be done in about a day. With the exception of a heating system tune-up, the projects don't require professional skills or equipment.

The total cost will range from $350 to $450. For the time and money invested, your fuel bill should be reduced by about 25 to 30 per cent. For the typical house, these projects should pay for themselves within two years.

People interested in improving insulation in their homes should inquire about the Canada Home Insulation Program (CHIP). It provides a taxable grant of up to $500. Many homeowners use this grant to insulate their attics, however it can be used for weather stripping, insulation in the basement and other areas, as well as for insulated shutters.

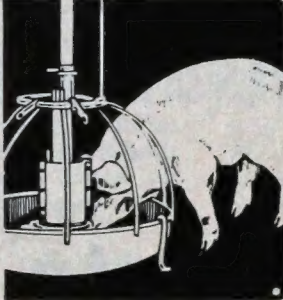

To obtain the pamphlet "Seven days of conservation" free of charge along with applications for CHIP grant, contact your County Information Centre at 457-2733. We are located in the Drag River Municipal Building (across from Emerson Lumber) in Haliburton and our office hours are from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Acid rain is still with us

In preparation for a conference on acid rain, for participants in the Katimavik program, members of the Minden group have been carrying out research into the topic. The following article was prepared by the group to illustrate some of the concerns and problems raised by acid rain.

Worldwide our forests are suffering from damage and death. Weakened by air pollution, (particularly ozone), acidic and impoverished soils, or toxic metals, trees lose their resistance to natural events such as drought, insect attacks, and frost. In some cases pollution alone causes injury or growth declines. The mechanisms are complex and may take decades of additional research to fully understand. But this growing body of circumstantial evidence is one more telling sign that fossil-fuel combustion has ecological limits, and that society will pay a price for overstepping them.

In West Germany, for example, three quarters of the fir trees, over 40% of pine and spruce, a quarter of all the beech trees and 15% of the oaks have been found damaged. In the U.S. forest damage is most evident in the Appalachian Mountain ranges of the east and in the Sierra Nevada of California.

Canada already faces severe consequences from former neglect of its forests. Poor management practices and inattention to regeneration have left Canada's timber lands in a sorry state. More than half of Canada's productive forest lies in the eastern part of the country where precipitation is acidic and soils have little buffering capacity. With one out of every 10 Canadian jobs dependent on the forest industry, and annual forest products valued at more than 20 billion dollars, Canada cannot afford to have its forests threatened by the ravages of air pollution, including acid rain.

Nearer to home, some Canadian maple producers are losing their taps and suffering dieback due to unknown causes. They suspect air pollution and acid rain to be the cause. The root damage could well be attributable to high levels of soluble aluminum. It has been hypothesized that as soils become increasingly acidic, aluminum, which is normally harmlessly bound in soil minerals, becomes soluble and toxic. The free aluminum attacks the tree root system, making the tree less able to take up moisture and nutrients.

Recently acid rain was considered by the Ontario Maple Syrup Producers Association, as a prime suspect in dieback across the province. Although the analysis of sap done by Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology did not show, in their opinion, acid rain to be the culprit, the president of the Ontario Maple Syrup Producer's Association, said that they still suspect acid rain. The sap test alone is not sufficient to eliminate acid rain as a contributing factor in the dieback. Consideration must be given to the free aluminum uptake by the tree, loss of vital nutrients from the soils due to increased acidification and trace amounts of heavy metals entering the forest from the atmosphere. Dry deposition on moist foliage forming acids that leach nutrients from leaves must also be considered. Also, ozone, by itself, has been found to damage trees in high concentrations. Much more research is required before decisions are made. Canada must provide more funds for this very necessary research to take place.

We must remember that trees are very important to us. They provide food and shelter for birds and animals, trails, parks, campsites, hunting grounds, cool shade for trout streams and much more. Trees prevent erosion of soil on the banks of rivers and lakes - protecting our watersheds and reducing flood threats. They help soil retain moisture and productivity. Trees keep us cooler in summer, on a hot summer day a large tree transpires up to 100 gallons of water, cooling the air (the cooling effect produced by one large tree may be equal to that of five or more room-sized air conditioners). Trees provide wind protection, act as sound-barriers to highway and other noises, help filter out dust particles from the air, consume carbon dioxide and produce oxygen. How can you even begin to put a price tag on those benefits?

Club 35 news

The members of Club 35 kicked off their fall season with a Pot Luck supper last Saturday night. After a very delicious meal, those present enjoyed card games. The M.C. for the evening was past president, Alex Stevenson.

The newly elected executive consists of:

President Murray Daniels; First Vice President Myrna McCarthy; second vice-president Shirley Bunker; secretary Fern Donnelly; treasurer Luther Wilson; social convenors Eleanor Ferris and Betty Campbell; cards and letters Velda Harrison and decorations Lou Pennick.

The new decorator Lou Pennick, established his reputation among the members when he appropriately adorned the club hall with playing cards.

Art Hunt, a long time worker for the club, handed in his resignation. Many present at the meeting spoke highly of the contribution made by Art to the upkeep of the Club. All present wish him well and he and his wife Iris, move into Minden. Your efforts on behalf of all of us have been greatly appreciated Art, and we will miss all those "extras."

Lopsided wins open season

The Minden Men's Town Hockey League season opened Monday evening with two games in the Minden arena.

The Rockcliffe Foamblowers and Halls Insurance both skated to lopsided victories.

The league has expanded from four to six teams this year to accommodate the increase in the number of players.

Throughout the regular season games will be played on Monday and Thursday evenings and the officials will be OMHA referees.

In Monday's first game the Rockcliffe Foamblowers trounced Home Hardware 16-3.

The 'Blowers jumped to a 5-0 lead before Home responded with a goal. The first period ended with Rockcliffe ahead 7-1.

In the second period both teams added a pair of goals. In the third period the 'Blowers put the game away with seven unanswered goals including a hat trick by Sid McKeghan.

McKeghan led the way for the 'Blowers with five goals and an assist. Other Rockcliffe scorers were Dave Hartwick with two goals and six assists, Tony Stone with three goals and

The schedule

The 1984 - 85 Minden Men's Recreational Hockey League officially got underway this week. The league has expanded from four to six teams this year to accommodate increased interest in the sport. The addition means that there will be two nights of hockey each week at the Minden arena for the league.

The league will maintain its Monday night games, with the first beginning at 7 p.m. and the second at 8:30 p.m. The third game of the week will be played Thursday evening at 9 p.m.

Many hands made light work during a building bee at the Victoria Street Public School in Haliburton on Saturday. Over one hundred parents and students were on hand to erect new playground equipment on the school grounds.

College cancels area courses

Faculty union members at Sir Sandford Fleming College (SSFC), and at community colleges across Ontario, are on strike.

Mediation between the Ontario Council of Regents and the faculty union, which represents college teachers, counsellors and librarians, failed to reach a settlement before the strike deadline of midnight October 16. The major issue that has been discussed to this point is teacher workload.

Sir Sandford Fleming

College acting president, Rod Rork, announced today that "in keeping with SSFC's interest in maintaining, in both the long and short term, collegial relationships among all its employees, and in maintaining the quality of its programs, all classes, both day and evening, at all locations will be cancelled for the duration of the strike."

The cancellations include post-secondary programs, programs sponsored by the Canada Employment and Immigration Commission, continuing education and general interest courses, student field placements and all laboratories.

All College buildings will remain open during the strike to allow access for students, non-striking staff and members of the public. However, individual classrooms and laboratories will be closed. Libraries will be open as well as cafeterias, bookstores, student services, admissions, recreation and general administration.

In order to ensure that students and members of the community are provided with up-to-date information throughout the strike, the College has established information "Hot Lines" (Sutherland Campus, Peterborough: 743-5610, Ext. 209 and Frost Campus, Lindsay: 324-9144 Ext. 253). Announcements will also be issued through the local media.

Minden W.I.

On October 17, members of Minden Women's Institute met at the common room of the Library-Cultural Centre with Mrs. C. Lacey presiding.

She welcomed us all and then read a verse, "Take Time". After the usual opening, the business was carried on. The roll call of Clippings was answered by 25 members.

Arrangements were made for the Victoria East Craft Day at Fenelon Falls United Church on October 24 and two cars will take members wishing to go. We also are taking some craft items to display on our table.

All then joined in "Happy Birthday" to Mrs. M. J. O'Neill. Collections for Card Fund and Pennies for Friendship were taken. Mrs. C. Wilson is our delegate to area convention and her reservation has been confirmed. Resolutions were voted on, so she may take our wishes. A brief report on the bus trip to the Royal Winter Fair on November 14 was given by Mrs. A. Kernohan.

We then adjourned and enjoyed a grand travelogue of slides by May Spence who went to Western Canada, Hawaii, England and some cities in Europe and the U.S.A. and then to P.E.I. But, as most people say, Minden area is as beautiful as anywhere you may travel.

The next meeting will be at this same place on November 21 at 2 p.m. with all ladies welcome.

A tasty snack was served by the committee and a social half hour followed.

Jeanne Sears, P.R.O.

Beech concert a success

by Caroline Bishop

Were you one of the lucky ones who participated in the Sandra Beech concert last week? If you were, you'll remember the magic of her music and her warmth. For many children of all sizes, including grown-up, it was an afternoon to remember. Her catchy tunes and varied lyrics had most of us bouncing, and many dancing in whatever space was available. Traditional songs and her own compositions displayed Sandra's respect for children, love of music, and enjoyment of fantasy. From infant to skeptical Michael Jackson fans of 9 and 10, all came away enthusiastic about this wonderful person and her music. If you missed the concert, try again - perhaps we can bring her back next year.

A large group of volunteers is currently pooling their creative energies at C.H.A.C.E. to provide us with a long range plan. Chairperson Pat Martin has brought together representatives of the membership, users, agencies, and the general community, who are now at the stage of receiving input from all sources. Flyers will soon be sent out and volunteers will be phoning members and users to solicit ideas about how C.H.A.C.E. is used and the functions it could fulfill in the future. We are eager for input from any source, and hope that all of you feel free to contact us and share your ideas. Drop in anytime between 10 - 4 weekdays or 10 - 2 Saturday, or phone 457-2989.

Hallowe'en is nearly upon us - already! Many parents are looking for alternatives to the trick or treating that is becoming a problem in some areas. We have one solution - come to C.H.A.C.E. for lots of Hallowe'en fun on the 31st, wear a costume (how about you, mother?) and share potluck treats with other partygoers between 11 and 12 a.m.

Last spring we held a St. John Ambulance First Aid

Course which helped many of us to become more confident in dealing with emergencies. Marilyn Mighton is again offering the course, this time on Wednesday evenings, beginning November 7. Please register soon at C.H.A.C.E.; enrolment is limited to 12 people.

With Hallowe'en close, can Christmas be far off? We can help here too - on November 16 and 17 we'll be having a Great Canadian Book Fair - books for the whole family at very reasonable prices.

You don't have to wait for an excuse to drop in to C.H.A.C.E. - we're here every day but Sunday and you are welcome. Come and play anytime from 10 - 4 weekdays or 10 - 2 Saturdays.

by Bert Harrison

Dear readers, another week is starting here at Hyland Crest. I will try and tell you about the residents who had special guests. Lilly Hogg's son and wife came down from Parry Sound on Saturday, stayed and had lunch with his mother before they went away. Winnie Johnson had her son Bill come to look after his mother. Millie Wood had a cousin, I think not sister or brother. Edna Cowen had callers, I am sure some others had too. I had relatives call, really quite a few.

We had something special in the chapel service this 14th October day. Ruth Pullit and her mother came to sing and play. The music that Ruth played is really sublime. We are glad to have them come most anytime. Then Rev. Burgess gave a very interesting message from Samuel 27:4. One thing I have desired from the Lord, I will seek after "that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life," to behold the beauty of the Lord and enquire in His temple.

Monday morning down at fun and fitness playing bucket ball, Amelia Good had the highest score of all. Monday night Linda showed us real interesting movies once again, "Beaver makes a Comeback", "Hold the Ketchup & Acid Rain". Vern Graham visited me last night, they have moved back from Ottawa to the old home place. I used to buy his dad's cattle when I was in the livestock race. Ina McGuire to hospital has taken a trip, to have replaced an old with a new plastic hip. Well readers, on this 16th October day, the lovely weather we are having, doesn't it make you feel, that life is worth living.

Tuesday morning Rev. Westhaver conducted a communion service in the chapel on this lovely October day. It's good to have him back again, for he has been away. And we thank Fred Ballard for coming the music to play. Our sympathy we like to convey to the family & relatives of the late Vera Cowan, who has recently passed away.

Tuesday afternoon instead of playing in the quiz game, we had a discussion again. Then we don't have to choose up sides to see who does win. Tuesday night our entertainers came, Thelma Watson and Al Smith are their names. They played fine music and we look forward when they will return to us again.

We thank Gordon Ruttle who knows a few tricks for keeping to the music with his maple sticks.

Now this is more fun and fitness news, Wilbert Sisson made a perfect score playing horseshoes. The very next day Lilly Hogg won the game that we did play.

The ladies of the Minden Institute came here this October day, brought and served a very delicious lunch, and we didn't have to pay. Thank you for coming we would like to say.

The bingo callers come Thursday night, Payne, Crowe and Hewitt, the players said they did a good job and sure knew how to do it.

We must not find fault with the weather, we have had some lovely sunny days. Although Friday afternoon it was raining, our entertainers came anyway. Grace Coburn too and led us in a sing along. Fred Ballard the music to play. Grace always reads humorous poems, which gives us all a thrill, closed with my favourite "Mocking Bird Hill".

From Sussus: God gave all man, All earth to love, But since our hearts are small, Ordained for age one spot should prove. Beloved over all. That as he watch creation's birth, So we in God like mood, Made of our love created earth, And see that it is good.

the Horticultural Society. You are invited to take part in this contest. Come to the meeting November 6 for an enjoyable and constructive evening. Refreshments will be served.

Congratulations from the community to Marie Walker of R.R. 2, Minden who celebrated her 88th birthday last Saturday.

Saturday guests Joan and Maurice Purkiss of Orillia called on their aunts Joyce Hewitt and Minnie Austen.

We notice the vegetable market is having its sale and suppose it will soon be closing for the season.

Sincere sympathy to the families and friends of the late Ezra Lott and Margaret Cooper who passed away recently.

Mary Wright and Anne McCreadie returned to Scotland Sunday after a most enjoyable three week visit with the Beers family in Minden.

Q: Did you hear the one about the road?

Q: Did you hear the one about the empty box?

A: A tombstone.

Q: How do zombies speak?
